...the last ov the Tribune," at which Raymond, who left the Radicals and declared for the empire at precisely the rite time, and was now editor of the Court Journal, jolted immoderitly. Some one exclaimed, "Bring in Thad Stevens," at which His Majesty turned pale and his knees smote together.—"Don't, don't," says he, "he's strength enough left to wag his tongue. Keep him away!" and he showed as much fear as men do in delirium tremens when they see snakes.

Mathawt I made inquiries and found that things wuz workin satisfactory. Gen. Grant wuz in exile, and Gen. Sheridan hed bin decapitatid for refoosin to acquiesce in the new arrangement. The country hed bin divided into dookdoms and earldoms, and sich, over which the nobility reoled with undispooted authority. The principal men of the North hed bin capchered and subdooed; and was fillin menial positions in the palaces of the nobility. No Lord, or Dook or Earl considered himself well served onless he hed a half dozen Northern Congressmen in his house, while the higher grade uv nobility wuzn't content with anything less than Guvnors.

The indebtednis uv the South to the North hed bin adjustid. A decree hed bin issood to the effect that Nothern merchants who shood press a claim agin a Southerner shood be beheaded and his goods confiscated. The question uv slavery hed bin settled forever, for the Dimekratic ijee uv one class to serve wus fully establisht. There wuz now three classes uv society, the hereditary nobility, the untitled officials, and the people; the latter, black and white, wus all serfs and all attached to the soil. Bizniss wus all done by foreigners, the policy uv the government bein to make the native born people purely agricultural peasantry. The nobility dezirin to make it easy for em giv em one sixth uv the produx uv the soil, reservin the balance for their own uses.

My dream didn't kontinyoo long enuff for me to ascertain whether I wuz a nobleman or not, but I am uv the opinion that I wuz, for a servant handed me a pin to stick into Gen. Butler to make him rore fur the amoosement uv the company, addressed me as "Your Grace," from which I inferred that I wuz one of the Lords spiritooal. Unfortunately at this pint I awoke and a sad awakenin it wus. The gorjus balls hed vanished, the chandeleers hed vanished, the robes uv stait and jewils and sich was gone and I wuz in my office, not "Your Grace," but merely a Postmaster in a Kentucky village. Well, that is suthin. What matter is nobleza at? He don't work, neither do I. He drinks wine, it is troo, but I hev wat sooits me better, whiskey fresh from the still. Yet my dream may be realized, and ef it is, I will endeavor to fill the position with credit. Who knows?

DEATH OF A MISER.—There died recently in the borough of Wilmore, Cambria county, an old man named Bernard Halligan, who in his lifetime was a miser of the first class. He was a common laborer by occupation, unmarried, and lived alone in the meanest manner in the most cheerless domicil. Previous to his death he had his will drawn up, bequeathing the bulk of his possessions to a sister in Ireland, but when the document was presented to him for his signature he refused to affix his name. He subsequently had one of his neighbors called in, to whom he committed the care of an old trunk, which, after his death, was opened and is said to have contained some $760 in gold and silver, together with a considerable sum of greenbacks. So miserable did this old man live that when his neighbors came to prepare his body for sepulture not a shred of clean linen could be found with which to dress it. Everything in and about his miserable abode bore the impress of squalid poverty and the utmost degradation.

SETH KINMAN has been appointed an Indian Agent for Idaho. Seth is a famous old California bear hunter, and has presented several of our Presidents with chairs made from the skins and horns of wild animals slain in his hunts. Seth made himself a fixture at the Capitol at Washington for the whole of the last session of Congress, wearing the hunter's garb of buckskin and bear skins everywhere, selling pictures of himself to visitors, and spinning backwoods yarns in the drinking saloons. His appointment was probably bestowed as a means of getting rid of him.

CYRUS W. FIELD has twice failed—once in 1857 and again in 1860—both times from the effects of commercial panics, superadded to his investments in the Atlantic cable scheme. His creditors of 1857 he subsequently paid in full, and he is now engaged in the same service toward those of 1860, the successful laying of the cable having put him in funds. The amount he is now thus disbursing is about $200,000.

A SOUTHERN paper makes the singular statement that some eighty or ninety negroes, stolen during the war, have been recently landed at Tappahannock, to be taken care of by their former owners. About one hundred and fifty in all have been landed at different places on the Rappahannock.

Impartial Suffrage.—Mr. Johnson's Opinion—An Authorized Statement.

Suffrage should be conferred by the States, that right being guaranteed to each State by the Constitution. Andrew Johnson is in favor of qualified suffrage in Tennessee as a citizen of that State. He authorized us, in behalf of the Chief Executive of the nation, to urge qualified suffrage for three classes of colored men of this District, in April last, and at his suggestion we renewed the proposition again in July, only about one week before Congress adjourned. We took special pains to notify several Radical Senators and Representatives who were anxious inquirers on the subject that the President was in favor of the plan proposed in The Republican. The Radicals were afraid to touch the question, and went home to their several States and blackguarded the President, and declared that he was opposed to extending the right of suffrage to the black man.

Andrew Johnson is in favor of more for the black man in Tennessee, as a citizen of the State, he suggested to Gov. Sharkey of Mississippi more for the colored men of that State, and requested and authorized us to urge upon Congress, at the last session, more for the colored men of this District than Charles Sumner, or Henry Wilson, or any other Congressman of Massachusetts ever urged for the colored men of their State. No colored man who fought in the Union army, of who owns property, no matter how much, can vote in Massachusetts unless he can read and write. President Johnson goes beyond that. He is in favor of granting suffrage to all colored men, wherever the Constitution gives him the power to do it, who can read and write, or who served honorably in the Union army, or who owns property to the extent of two hundred and fifty dollars and upward.

The only difference between the President and Congress is, that the former believes that, under the Constitution, each State has the right to settle the question of suffrage for itself. Congress assumes the right to impose it upon the States. Constitution or no Constitution.—Washington Republican, Nov. 19.

The Great Democrat.

The Democratic party may well boast of a few of its distinguished, and by them greatly honored, members. They can lay legitimate claim to Jeff. Davis, the rebel butcher N. B. Forrest, Fernando Wood, Vallandigham, and John Morrissey. Of this latter pet, just elected to Congress from the city of New York, it may be of some interest to our Democratic friends to know something of the history. The various records of the State clearly demonstrate that he has won his late promotion by a faithful adherance to the principles of his party in the District he represents. In the addition to his record as a prize-fighter and gambler, John Morrissey has done the State of New York some service in her penitentiaries. He figures in the criminal courts in that State as follows:

IN RENSSELAER COUNTY.

Twice indicted for assault and battery. Once convicted and sent to jail for sixty days.

Once indicted for assault with intent to kill.

IN ALBANY COUNTY.

Three times indicted, convicted and sentenced for assault and battery, serving a total term of nine months in the Albany Penitentiary.

IN NEW YORK CITY.

Three times indicted for assault with intent to kill.

At the present time, he is the proprietor and engineer of several of the most extensive gambling tables in the city of New York, and by his professional calling as a blackleg, has amassed a fortune of half a million of dollars, one hundred and fifty thousand of which he is said to have spent in bribes and whiskey to carry his election. This man, showing the "eternal fitness of things," the Johnson Democracy of New York have sent to Congress by a majority of about ten thousand votes, as their representative. No better selection could have been made.

A PERMANENT INVESTMENT.—The English holders of rebel bonds still seem to be troubled with the hallucination that they will some day realize from their investment in the defunct Southern Confederacy. This delusion manifests itself at intervals and under different phases. According to our accounts, the afflicted bondholders are just now laboring under the phantasy that they can in some way attach the money due to the United States from England upon the Alabama claims, for the liquidation of their claims upon the deceased S. C. It does not appear just how they propose to arrange this little matter, but they apparently imagine that the United States is an idiot. Such is lunacy.

IT is generally conceded that Gov. Morton is to be the successor of Hon. Henry S Lane, as United States Senator from Indiana. The Legislature recently elected, and which is strongly Republican, will choose the Senator at its next session.

Empress Carlotta of Mexico.

The Memorial Diplomatique, November 2, has received directly from Miramar satisfactory news as to the state of the Empress Charlotte. Thanks to the intelligent and assiduous care with which her Majesty is surrounded and to the absolute repose she enjoys in that charming retreat, the moral excitement which had disturbed the Empress' mind is completely appeased. The improvement which at first appeared but slow, now assumes all the symptoms of a radical cure.

At half a gunshot from the Chateau of Miramar stands a small pavilion, built in the Italian style of the Middle Ages, and covered with verdure, which is called the Gardener's House. Before leaving for Mexico the Archduke Maximilian and the Princess Charlotte there in preference, in order to escape the irksomeness of etiquette. The Empress has again installed herself there, and in the midst of the pleasant reminiscences which surround her, occupies her leisure with reading, music and painting. The medical attendants insist that her Majesty shall not leave Europe during the winter. The probability is that when the weather becomes more rigorous the Empress will go to the Isle of Lacroma, which is her personal property, and which enjoys the mildest temperature of Naples.

The Paris Opinion states that a message has been received from the Emperor Maximilian in answer to the news of the Empress' illness. After expressing his deep sorrow for her malady, and approving all that had been done, he adds that being resolved at every sacrifice, to surmount, if possible, his bad fortune, he will not leave the post which duty assigns him. If he adheres to this determination, so entirely contrary to the wishes of his early patron, and to the instructions given to General Castelnau, the position will be strangely complicated, for one would think that the French troops cannot in honor be withdrawn without a positive assurance of non intervention on the part of the United States, and the plea of putting an end to anarchy in Mexico may thus have resulted in setting up a new element of division.

THE trial of the celebrated Jumel will case came on in the Supreme Court of New York on Monday, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff.—Madame Jumel being declared to be of unsound mind when the will was executed. The executors did not contest the suit, and it is understood that a compromise was effected before the trial came on, by which Nelson Chase, the party who contests the will, agreed to pay the several bequests named in the will, the defendants relinquishing their claim to their respective shares of the residuary estate. Some two hundred witnesses had been summoned in the case, and it would have probably occupied the court three weeks had not this compromise been effected. The object in having the trial was to get a formal verdict of a jury on the competency of the testator, and, as is supposed, to afford one of the defendants, Rev. J. Howard Smith, opportunity to correct a public misapprehension as to his connection with the will.

SOON after the death of Prince Albert, the sooty Emperor Theodorus, of Abyssinia, hearing of that melancholy event, and moved probably by sympathy for the unfortunate widow, sent to Queen Victoria a formal proposal of marriage. The offer was treated with silent contempt. His sable Majesty, after waiting some time, came to the conclusion that he was intentionally insulted, and, out of revenge, seized the principal Englishmen then within his dominions. By the latest accounts there is reason to fear that all the prisoners, as well as an envoy recently sent out to their succor, have been put to death.—Queen Victoria has at length been induced to dispatch to her savage suitor an autograph letter, in the hope of securing the release of her subjects, if they are not already released by death.

A YOUNG GIRL from Cincinnati, who was deserted by her paramour, attempted to commit suicide in Reading, Pa., last week, by taking laudanum. The Reading Dispatch says: "Ever since her desertion she has been gloomy and cast down, and has frequently expressed a wish that she were dead or away from those evil companions that surround her. The attempt which she made to take her life seems to have been premeditated. She is now considered out of danger, and has signified her intention of returning to her old home as soon as she is sufficiently recovered to travel."

THE Memphis Bulletin accounts for the defeat of "my policy" at the elections as follows:

"The people of the North, while they do not approve the policy of Stevens, prefer his present leadership to that of men identified with the Democracy. The struggle has been decided. Democracy has fallen."

COAL veins, respectfully six and three feet in thickness, have been struck near Leavenworth, at a distance of about six hundred feet beneath the surface. The Leavenworth Conservative thinks the supply will be sufficient to supply the entire State of Kansas.

Affairs in Mexico.

Maximilian having about concluded to abdicate the Empire set up for him by Napoleon, the Mexican question begins to assume more important proportions. It is believed that the Administration having been so signally foiled in its domestic policy, will now try its hand in our foreign relations, hoping by some brilliant stroke of policy to retrieve its failing fortunes.

There is little doubt but that Mr. Campbell, our new Minister, has been sent out with instructions calculated to excite trouble with other powers; but if the same want of sagacity marks the course of the Presidential policy in foreign affairs as distinguished it in its domestic relations, we apprehend that our neighbors need have but little fears of any serious trouble from that quarter; added to this Congress will meet in less than a week from to-day, when the whole foreign policy of the Administration will be overhauled and subjected to the closest scrutiny. President Johnson and his Secretary of State, if they have any selfish or ambitious projects on foot, may as well desist, for they can rest assured that they will be called upon to show their hands, and held to a strict accountability for the manner in which they have discharged the trusts confided to their keeping.

The Constitutional Amendment.

Nothing more conclusively shows the wisdom of the Union Republican party in its position during the late campaign than the emphatic confirmation which was given to the plan of adjustment known as the constitutional amendment. If there ever was a question, or rather a series of questions, before the American people in which the issue was fairly made up in unmistakeable language, this was one; and surely there never was a verdict pronounced with greater emphasis than upon that occasion. Yet notwithstanding this, notwithstanding the emphatic declaration of the loyal States, we find the Legislatures of the ten rebellious States, full of that spirit which Napoleon applied to the Bourbon dynasty of France—Learning nothing, and forgetting nothing—have with singular unanimity rejected the fairest proposals that were ever offered to a conquered people.

These terms having been rejected, it now remains to be seen whether Congress will offer anything better to these unrepentant rebels. Certainly they cannot expect concessions more favorable; and the present perilous condition in which they find themselves is only another proof of the miserable leadership under which they placed themselves when they undertook to follow the devious paths of Moses No. 2.

Negro Suffrage.

Our readers will remember with what persistent efforts the copperhead press, during the late canvass, endeavored to convey the impression that the Union Republican party was the advocate of negro suffrage, and with what earnestness they denounced the measure as one fraught with the direst consequences. Scarcely, however, has the din of battle ceased, and the smoke cleared away, when we find the leading copperhead organs out in favor of this very negro suffrage which a short time ago they denounced so very bitterly.

The Chicago Times, the Philadelphia Age and the Boston Post, three of the most conspicuous lights in that party, are out unequivocally for it; while quite a number of leading coppery politicians have already given their adhesion to this "most damnable heresy."

It will not be forgotten that there are two theories now discussed in regard to suffrage—one in favor of universal suffrage, and the other in favor of suffrage based on intelligence. The Albany Argus, the leading Democratic paper in the State of New York, advocates the former and denounces the latter, and in doing so is followed by the majority of its party in that State. The principal reason no doubt of the advocacy on the part of the party in New York of this former theory, is given by the Albany Evening Journal as follows: "Because in certain election districts of New York city at least two thirds of those who voted the Hoffman ticket on the 6th of November were unable to read their ballots." It is easy to see, therefore, that suffrage based upon intelligence is not just the thing to suit the Democratic party in New York. Hence they hurrah for universal suffrage.—Which does the Local favor?

J. B. Bessac, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee of Minnesota, advises the South to accept the constitutional amendment to constitute a year

The Pope in Trouble.

Amongst the most significant signs of the unusual stirring times upon which we have fallen, more remarkably that which comes to us of the rumored removal of the Pope from Rome may justly be considered. The personal situation of "His Highness" at the present time is not one of either comfort or pleasure.

To explain the present situation of Pius the Ninth, a brief review of the principal incidents connected with his rule will be necessary. In the year 1846, the present Pope, who was then Dr. Mastai Ferretti, Cardinal Archbishop of Imola, in the Romagna, was elected to the Papacy, and took the name of Pius the Ninth. He was then in the fifty-fourth year of his age, and had borne the character of one of the most liberal minded men in the whole catalogue of cardinals. The commencement of his reign was marked by several measures of reform, and great hopes were entertained at that time that the new Pope, who seemed really to be imbued with the march of liberal and democratic sentiments, and which culminated two years after—in 1848—in the general uprising of Europe, would gradually guide the Church to the van of the forward movement. Italy, it will be remembered, at that time—1846—was writhing under the most oppressive tyranny in Europe, cut up into small States, and ruled by a set of petty despots whose cruelty was as unbounded as their views were contracted.

But Pius the Ninth, a Pope of splendid promises, like a great many others who have given cause for great hopes, soon began to lapse back again, and we find in 1848 that while all Europe was in a blaze of popular enthusiasm for liberty, Pope Pius, instead of placing himself at the head of the movement, took the very opposite course; and like a certain other notable individual of our day, attempted to substitute a policy of his own, and force it upon the people. He chose for his Prime Minister Count Rossi, the most aristocratic and unpopular man in his kingdom, and began to force his policy, (very much in the style of our present Executive) and all the while claiming that he was the most humble individual in the world, and that nothing but the best wishes for the welfare of the people could have ever caused him to adopt such measures.

Well, so the contest went on, and of course it ended as all such contests must end. When a single "humble individual" begins to fight the whole people, the "humble individual" goes under. And hence we find that, in a few months Rossi was assassinated, the Pope escaped to Gaeti in disguise, where he remained eighteen months, while Rome in the meantime was declared a Republic. At the end, however, of this time, Napoleon, who had got himself into power in France, and who had also, like our own illustrious Andrew Johnson, falsified his pledges to the people, and having a warm feeling for the Pope, brought that "humble individual" back to Rome, and again seated His Holiness in the seat of St. Peter. Here the Pope has been kept solely by the bayonets of Louis Napoleon. But the late war between Prussia and Austria has unsettled matters there. Austria, the staunch friend of despotism and of the Pope, being obliged to cede Venetia to Victor Emanuel, between whom and the Pope there is the greatest antagonism, the former thereby becomes chief of all Italy.

The desire of the whole nation being that Rome shall become the capital of the new consolidated kingdom of Italy; it becomes highly necessary for Pius the Ninth to find some other place of residence. In view of these alarming troubles, His Holiness has published two manifestoes—the first directed mainly against Victor Emanuel, and the second against the Czar of Russia. In one of these occurs the following remarkable declaration—that the temporal power is indispensible to the independence of the spiritual power, that the Pope is ready to suffer death even, in the maintenance of the rights of the Holy See, and if necessary to seek in another country the requisite security for the better exercise of his apostolic ministry.'

Such are some of the fruits of the policy of Count Bismarck, backed by the all powerful needle gun.

THE editor of the Local some time ago asserted that "Gen." Coolbaugh offered him $5 for a "puff," and that he refused it. Satisfied that nothing of the kind ever occurred, we proposed to buy the editor of the Local a $5 "tile" if he would go before a justice of the peace and make an affidavit to what he averred. He went before a justice—swore it was true, came and got his "tile," and now asks—

Has the editor of the Argus got any more hats to dispose of on similar terms?

No. Unless somebody else agreed to do the liquidating we would not now offer to buy him a $5 "tile" if he would go before a magistrate and make an affidavit that it took fourteen months

THE editor of the Local, in an article of unusual pleasantness comparing the business done in the town of Beaver with that done in the neighboring villages, arrives at this solemn conclusion:

No observant man can fail to see what the disease is; and no man who is wide awake can fail to see at a glance that the pestilence is Old Fogyism and Puritanical intolerance. They hold the balance of power; but that power once broken and destroyed, and the sepulchral title of "Saints' Rest," under which we are now buried from the sight of advancing civilization, abolished, and but a few years would elapse until Beaver town would be known and recognized as a place of business instead of the simple abode of Puritanical ghosts.

The town of Beaver has no natural business advantages; and its great elevation, together with its distance from wharf and railroad, will always prevent it from becoming an extensive manufacturing place. It will, therefore, in this particular, never enter into competition with any of the neighboring towns. It yields that point to all of them. But so far as local improvements and the erection of new dwellings are concerned, Beaver has within the last year, and is now doing as much as any village of the same population within fifty miles of it. "Old Fogyism and Puritanical intolerance," instead of being asleep then, is fully up to the times; and under its management real estate is rapidly changing hands, and has advanced in price beyond all expectations.—If it is the purpose of the editor of the Local, then, to drive these "Puritanical ghosts" from Beaver, we object; for these men make valuable improvements, build many new houses, live in peace with their neighbors, pay their debts, love their wives, and otherwise deport themselves as good citizens. While, on the other hand, if he is a fair representative of the population he would bring here in their stead, we very much fear that its male members would be found more frequently in the prisoners' box during our terms of court than would be beneficial to the business interests of the place they came to invigorate.—We wish therefore to be considered as opposed to the contemplated change of population.

New Jersey U. S. Senator.

The Governor of New Jersey has just appointed Hon Frederick T. Frelinghuysen to fill the Senatorial vacancy in that State, occasioned by the death of Senator Wright.

Mr. Frelinghuysen is the third of his name in New Jersey that have represented that State in the United States Senate. The first was Frederick Frelinghuysen, of Revolutionary fame. He was a Major General under Washington in 1780, and was elected to the Senate in 1793. The second was Theodore Frelinghuysen, who was elected to the Senate in 1826, and was the Whig candidate for Vice President in 1844. The third takes his seat by appointment on the first of the coming month.

The Frelinghuysen family of New Jersey is becoming almost as illustrious as the Adams family of Massachusetts.

THE editor of the Local sent us a challenge some two or three weeks ago to compare subscription lists with him, and offered to bet his office against ours that he had more subscribers than we had. We replied that we were not addicted to the habit of betting, but if he would first convince us that the office he proposed to transfer was his, or that he had any money interest in it whatever, we would take his proposition into consideration, and discuss preliminaries. To this, his reply is that he will "guarantee the Local office to us in case" we win it.—His "guarantee" may be worth something; but as we do not know this to be the case, we decline to take it, and insist on his producing the evidence of ownership. When this evidence is produced, we will move further in the matter. Therefore, while we do not wish to be regarded as impatient in the matter, we cannot refrain from saying to the Local, "hurry up."

It looks very much as if Horace Greely would be elected to the U. S. Senate from New York. The Herald, Times, Post, and Advertiser, of that city, with at least three-fourths of the Republican press of the rural districts and cities of the interior of the State, strongly urge his claims.

MRS. ELIZABETH CADY STANTON had eight votes for Congress—eight gallant fellows who would rather have Elizabeth, familiarly known as "Betz," to represent them than John Morrissey.

RICHARD LAWRENCE, who attempted to assassinate General Jackson in 1835, is still living, an inmate in the Maryland Insane Asylum.

Titusville Correspondence.

[illegible], Nov. 21, 1866.

Dear [illegible] Beyond [illegible] ever recalled [illegible] we held last week in which "the situation" was so ably discussed. I think you must have thought of it when reading the amiable response of the Local to my jocular allusion to his profound (!) editorial on the President's questions (vide Philadelphia Ledger). It is one of the drawbacks to living in this section that I am deprived of the weekly sayings of your docile cotemporary, for I am induced to consider it quite a sacrifice after reading your extracts and allusions.

A profound research has given your friend the "English" of my sur-name and really mortified my vanity at the promptness of his recognizing my humble self as of the same family with his honor. Supposing we paint the two long eared "animiles," one with that awful pen, foreshadowing the doom of the "Rump Congress," when those "Ledger" questions were answered, and acted on: and the other with a long pole, slightly warmed at one end, stirring gently him of the quill. In the lower corner, copying the style of all great artists, we would put "Paul Fecit, 1866"; and if this in English did not mean "made," it might by a "free translation" go for "Paul did it." It is altogether your political advantage to get me on the walk under the window "bantering" our friend, but for as he is a good Democrat as well as myself, Hiester would be apt to be the loser however else the conflict might terminate. No! Captain, it will hardly go. Bran bread, low diet and strict quiet will answer better, and be a more paying prescription.—Recommend it—do!

How easy one falls to talking of the weather, now! Yesterday we started in a snow storm, but soon switched off into a rain. On the whole we have had a remarkably fine fall. Let it be recorded! The new wells put down at Plummer under the direction of the renowned oil smeller, Dr. Patterson, have been completed, and are now going through the trying process of testing. If successful, the Dr. can go "up head" of all the "locators," "smellers," etc., in this country. On the Tarr farm, the seekers for oil are meeting with unusual success. I should not be surprised if the amount of oil from this territory should soon rival that of the "best days."

Oil still keeps very low. The supply is thought, however, to be lessening, and unless several large wells are struck will grow less during the coming month; for the reason that many of the wells are obliged to bring water for their boilers a long distance, which will be found impossible when Jack Frost puts on his "stamp." Many hope from this circumstance to see the price of oil advance two or three dollars per barrel.

There is a great desire felt to have a new county formed in this section, making Titusville its center, and taking some nine towns from Crawford county; parts of Cherrytree and Allegheny townships from Venango; and I think a corner of Warren, to make the thing "just right."

It is expected that the politicians of western Crawford will go for it, because Titusville and eastern Crawford, if they can't get the nominations, will join hands with Meadville and the center towns, giving it to them; and as they reciprocate, the western aspirants are left out in the cold. If, then, eastern and western Crawford both agree in bidding the "wayward sister" depart in peace, and set up on her own hook, the thing is done, so far as they are concerned. It will certainly be a great convenience for all engaged in law—either as plaintiffs or defendants, to have the Courts located here. To name the new county after our present worthy Governor, and next Senator, "Curtin," would be very acceptable.

Speaking of law reminds me of a subject which has been recently debated at some length. "Is it lawful for a man to marry his widow's sister?" Perhaps you will give your opinion! Thine,

PAUL FECIT.

Paul, it will be seen, closes in on our up street neighbor and fastens "Jackdom" on him beyond the possibility of doubt. Not desiring to take a hand in this "tilt" between "Paul Fecit" and the editor of the Local, we nevertheless advise Paul, in a precautionary sense, to insist upon proof in all things, and to trust nothing to affidavits. We got slightly "socked" with one of these things once, and we now want our friends to profit by our example.—Ed. Argus.

Beaver Falls Correspondence.

Improvement is the practical watchword of the age, and the immutable laws of progress are stereotyped upon all things visible to our outward senses, and the tide of all human pursuits is ever onward. As no previous period have the wills of our grand country been made, under human culture, more emphatically to "blossom as the rose."

Now that the nation's "labor" and its "birth throes" of war are over, and the child, Freedom to the African bondsman, is the stupendous result, in this grateful lull of peace, towns and cities are springing up around us as if by magic, and manufactories of various kinds are planting themselves in our midst and are converting the raw material into fabrics and various implements for our use, with a dispatch unequalled in any other age of our history.

We need not go far from home for the proof of this assertion. Beaver Falls, formerly called Old Brighton and the property of Jas. Patterson, Esq., now owned by the Economy Society, has been laid out in town lots, and is being disposed of at the instance of the Trustees of the Society, Baker and Henrici, under the agency [illegible] U. T. [illegible] and Jno. Reeves. About twenty five [illegible] have gone up during the present season, some at a cost of five or six thousand dollars, and others at lower figures. The large Manning mills is being substantially repaired to be driven by three double wheels, and when completed will be the best mill in the west.

A three story building, 60 by 80 ft. is in process of erection by Waddle and Wilson, for the manufacture of doors, window-sash, and frames; to be driven by two turbine wheels. The Race is also being improved—made wider—so that boats can run up to the different manufactories for commercial purposes.

The large mansion house of Mr. Duncan is being improved and fitted up in the most approved style. Coal mines are being opened which promise great wealth, and are accessible from the main street.

The Pittsburgh Cutlery Company, now in successful operation at Rochester, Pa., will at an early date take possession of their new buildings in Beaver Falls.

Fire Clay is in great abundance here, and the vast water power which is equal to New Brighton and Fallston both, taken with the fact that the proprietors (Baker and Henrici) have ample means to invest in the enterprise, and are unswerving in their purpose to make this a place worthy of great resources.—It is no risk to purchase here. All the lots and property belonging to the Society will be sold for sale under their auspices. The streets are wide and many of them bear the names of the owners of the soil, viz: Baker, Henry (for Henrici), Rapp, Gertrude, Harmony, Economy st., &c.

Excellent soft water can be had by digging from sixteen to twenty feet.

The "Beaver Falls House" has recently been opened by Mr. Glenn, where visitors to the place will find comfortable quarters, a convenience greatly needed.

The agents have a large number of Lithographs, showing the plot of the town, very finely executed by a young artist, Mr. Wilcox, of Pittsburgh, which can be seen at their office in New Brighton. The sales and improvements altogether amount to over one hundred thousand dollars during the present year.

Hon. Archibald Robinson, collector of revenues, appointed in place of Mr. Sankey, of New Castle, has opened his office in Beaver Falls. LISWOOD.

Grand Army of the Republic.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 21.—The National Convention of the Grand Army of the Republic have decided that their proceedings shall be made public, and the Secretary has been authorized to publish them.

The following officers were elected: Commander-in-Chief, S. A. Hulburt, Illinois; Senior Vice Commander, J. B. McKean, of New York; Junior Vice Commander, A. S. Foster, Indiana; Adjutant General, B. F. Stephenson, Illinois; Quartermaster General, August Willich, Ohio; Surgeon General, D. B. McNeil, Iowa; Capt. W. A. Pile, Missouri; Counsel of Administration, J. R. Broadfit, Wisconsin; Wm. Vandore, Iowa; J. O. Osborne, Illinois; T. C. Fletcher, Mississippi; T. T. Taylor, Ohio; H. K. Wilward, Kentucky; T. J. Bramhall, New York; Nathan Kimball, Indiana; Clayton McMichael, Pennsylvania.

The following are the resolutions adopted by the National Convention of the Grand Army of the Republic:

1. That the Grand Army of the Republic is organized to maintain in civil life those great principles for which it stood in arms under the national flag; that it stands pledged to crush active treason, to advance and support active loyalty, to secure sound constitutional liberty to all men, and to vindicate everywhere and at all times the full and complete rights of every loyal American citizen against all combinations of force or fraud that may attempt to deny or deprive them of such rights.

2. That we pledge all the power and influence which, as individuals or as an association, we legitimately wield, in the most especial manner, to those gallant men who stood fast by the country in the hour of its need in the Rebellious States, and who, through all manner of losses and injuries, persecutions by force and persecutions under color of law, maintained their integrity and vindicated their loyalty; and we solemnly declare that no power that we can see shall be neglected until they are thoroughly and completely protected in the active exercise of the American freemen through the entire country over which our flag floats.

3. That Congress, in justice, and not in charity, should pass a law equalizing in a just manner the bounties of all Union soldiers and sailors.

4. That we now, as heretofore, pledge ourselves to use our best endeavors to procure appropriate State and national legislation for the education and maintenance of the orphans and widows of deceased comrades and our maimed brethren, and to enforce a speedy adjustment and payment of all claims against the Government due soldiers and sailors and their heirs.

5. That in our opinion no man is worthy to be a free citizen of a free country who is not willing to bear arms in its defence, and we therefore suggest to Congress the passage of a law making it the inexorable duty of every citizen to defend his country in time of need, in person and not by substitute.

6. That as a matter of justice and right, and because the sacrifice made and dangers encountered by the Union soldiers and sailors who served in the late war for the preservation of the country can never fully be repaid, we respectfully ask that those in authority bestow upon needy and worthy soldiers and sailors such positions of honor and profit as they may be competent to fill; and while we seek nothing for ourselves, or those of our [illegible] who are able to maintain themselves, we do earnestly recommend this request to the consideration of all in authority, and we especially call the attention of the President to the policy heretofore declared on this subject.

MEXICO.

Evacuation of French Troops.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24, 1866.

About the middle of October the French Minister of State addressed this Government, proposing a change in the programme agreed on in June last, between the American Minister and Drouyn D'Lhuys for the evacuation of the French troops from Mexico. Instead of removing them in detachments, commencing in November and ending within six months, it was preferred that they should all be removed in one body on or about the first of January. This Government replied through Minister Bigelow that it adhered to the original understanding made in June, and hoped that there would be no delay in the sailing of the first detachment during the present month.

On Monday last the Marquis de Montholon communicated to Mr Seward, a dispatch from his Government, intimating that Napoleon desired more time for a general evacuation, and proposing to defer it four months.—The President, after due consultation with the Cabinet, directed Mr. Seward to reply to the French Minister that the Government saw no good reason for accepting any change, but insisting on the contrary on the terms communicated by Mr Bigelow on June 6th last, being fully carried out. These terms were proposed wholly by the French Minister at that time, and were accepted without modification by this government. This conclusion was communicated to-day to the Marquis De Montholon. The government has unofficial information that a part of the detachment of French troops did sail from Western Mexico about the first of November.

LOCAL and MISCELLANEOUS.

☞ Wm. Brenan, Jr., 54 Fifth st., Pittsburg, is the authorized agent for the ARGUS in that city.

☞ Skates for sale at Dickey & Wilson's, Beaver, Pa.

STILL A MYSTERY.—The disappearance of Mr. Middleton, of Fallston, to whom we referred last week, still remains a mystery.

REUNION.—The re-union of the Roundhead Regiment, P. V., takes place to-morrow at New Galilee. All honorably discharged officers and men of the Regiment, are cordially invited, and expected to be present.

☞ Call and see Gealy's furs.

☞ Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Nelson & Rossler, of Rochester, who offer for sale a large lot of well assorted goods. These gentlemen have bought their goods at low prices, and will sell them at the most accommodating rates. They are clever, enterprising business men. Give them a call.

☞ Skates for sale at Dickey & Wilson's, Beaver, Pa.

DURANT'S POEM.—We had the pleasure on Monday evening last of hearing Mr. Durant, of Washington county, recite his poem on the War. The poem itself is a fine production, and was well read by Mr. Durant, but the audience was too decidedly select to be a source of much profit to the author.

☞ For cheapest hats for ladies and misses go to Gealy's.

SERENADE.—Some of our young friends visited our domicil on Monday night last, and entertained ourself and family for about half an hour, with some of the best music we ever heard on a similar occasion. Long may they live, and often may they come.

☞ Men's under shirts and drawers at Gealy's cheap.

IMPORTANT TO SOLDIERS.—All soldiers who have one hundred dollars bounty due them should remember that since the beginning of 1866, when the bill giving them one hundred dollars additional bounty was passed by Congress, some three months have elapsed, and as the Department had limited the payment of these only who apply within six months' time, those who have not yet applied should do so immediately.

☞ Furs, furs, at Gealy's; cheaper than ever.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On Wednesday last while a team was going up the main street of this place, a little son of Mr. William Orr, aged about 5 years, unconsciously ran before it, and was knocked over and considerably bruised.—At first it was supposed that he was internally injured; but happily this proved not to be the case, and he is again as well as ever.

☞ Splendid goods at Gealy's, for holiday gifts.

MARKET PRICES.—Mess pork has declined to dollars a barrel in New York and Philadelphia; lard six cents a pound; flour two dollars a barrel, butter, hams, and all kinds of table meats generally, are quoted as slowly working down. We have not seen any evidence of the facts in Beaver, but shall be very happy to note the decline, when we go out to make our next purchases.

☞ Skates for sale at Dickey & Wilson's, Beaver, Pa.

THANKSGIVING.—To-morrow is thanksgiving day and we presume business generally throughout the country will be suspended.—As the editor of the Local has asked to be excused from "hanging on that day," and as his request has been generously granted, we are advised as to what he intends employing himself at on that day. Of course he won't get "boozy" on the occasion; but it is highly probable that he may be found with a long visage, near where the "critter" can be had.

☞ Genuine country flannel at Gealy's.—Very cheap.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—On Thursday evening of last week at about 8 o'clock at night, our attention was called to a boy some ten or twelve years of age, who was so drunk as to be scarcely able to keep the sidewalk.—He was passing down towards McKinley's corner, and when near the Revenue office he came to a stand and commenced "throwing up."—Being interrogated, he promptly told his name, and insisted that he had only drank one glass of ale, and that was given him by his father. Of course he was not to be believed in this particular. Out of respect to his parents, who no doubt saw him before he became sober, we withhold his name, but suggest to them the propriety of adopting some plan of reconstruction at as early a day as possible.

☞ Skates for sale at Dickey & Wilson's, Beaver, Pa.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Thursday afternoon, while Mr. Joseph Grove was at work at an oil well on the Two Mile Run, the pulley wheel fell from the top of the derrick, and striking him on the head, crushed some four or five inches of his skull, which rendered him insensible for two or three hours afterwards.—Mr. McKinley and Feicht were sent for, who had him conveyed to his father's residence, and there dressed the wound, taking from it quite a number of broken bones. The brain was found to be uninjured, and hence it is now supposed the accident will not prove fatal.

THE SUICIDE IN ROCHESTER—A SAD CASE.—A case of suicide occurred in Rochester on Tuesday of last week, which exhibited some details of quite a distressing character. The facts, as near as we could collect them, were as follows:

A young man named Joseph S. Bell, living in Youngstown, Ohio, who had been a soldier in the 105th or Roundhead Regiment, was married about six months ago to a young lady, Miss Mary De Huff, living near the same place. Young Bell, it appears, had an intention of going to Augusta, Georgia, to seek a situation as clerk, having been pleased with that city while in the South. He left Youngstown some time during the summer, and, in company with his young wife, visited around the several villages and towns near to Youngstown, amongst others Smith's Ferry and Rochester. They boarded always at the hotels, and appeared, as young folks generally, to be enjoying the honeymoon.

About one week ago they came to Rochester, and stopped at Mr. Johnston's hotel. The young man was noticed by the boarders to be of singularly quiet and unobtrusive manners, and several times appeared to be plunged into fits of profound melancholy, from which he would by a strong effort arouse himself, and then for a time appear quite gay and sociable.

On Monday morning he and his wife started out for a walk to Beaver. They strolled around the streets of Beaver some time, when, upon passing one of the Drug stores, he told his wife that he would step in and get some quinine, for he felt that he was about to have an attack of ague. They went in, purchased the quinine, and while the wife was looking at the show case, he also purchased a quantity of morphine, asking what was the proper amount for a dose, &c. He put the morphine in his pocket, and immediately left the store.

Arriving at Rochester, he appeared in unusually high spirits, and about eight o'clock in the evening told his wife that he was going out to get some oysters. He told Mr. Johnston that he was going out a short time upon the hill. In the course of half an hour he returned, bringing half a can of oysters and a bottle of liquid labelled Port Wine, containing about a pint. He poured out a considerable quantity of the liquid into a glass, and requested his wife to drink it, adding that it was a pure article, and would do her much good. She complied, and he immediately swallowed the rest. Scarcely had the wife drank the wine when she felt a peculiar burning sensation in the stomach, accompanied with fainting and nausea. Bell deliberately opened the can of oysters, ate two, and remarking that he could not eat any more, went to bed, saying that he did not feel very well. About 2 o'clock the wife awakened with violent symptoms of nausea and vomiting, which continued for some time, and probably saved her life. Her husband, on the contrary, was so far gone that he could not speak, and after lingering for a few hours in great agony, expired about 7 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

Dr. Marquis being called before death had ensued, upon examination found that the unfortunate young man had taken an over-dose of morphine. A coroner's jury, consisting of Jas. A. Stokes, Esq., J. R. Pendleton, John Hart, Geo. Otto, F. M. Anderson and S. J. Cross, was empannelled, and after a long deliberation elicited the above facts, and that the wine contained the poison which caused his death. During the investigation, the following was found written on an envelope in the pocket book of the deceased:

"This is to certify that I have of my own accord put an end to my own life."

JOS. BELL, Youngstown, O."

The verdict of the jury was, "that the deceased came to his death by means of poison administered by himself."

In endeavoring to account for the cause of this most melancholy affair, there is but one solution which obtains the least semblance of probability. The rash act was evidently the result of morbid sensitiveness, wrought up to a state of utter desperation by untoward circumstances. The brave young soldier, who had faced death on a dozen battle-fields, being unable to cope with the terrors of adversity.

On Wednesday morning the friends of the parties, Mr. Bell, the father of the young man, and Mrs. Power, aunt and foster mother of the young wife, arrived at Rochester, and left on the evening train, the one bearing the dead body of his son, and the other the living form of the crushed and broken hearted young wife.

Thus ended one of those sad tragedies which we are sorry to say are fast becoming so common in our country as to elicit but little surprise.

THE RECENT ROBBERY.—Although nearly two weeks have elapsed since the robbery of the Treasurer's office in this place, no satisfactory clue has yet been obtained as to who the parties are. We presume that efforts are still on foot to ferret out the offenders, but thus far success has not attended them.

☞ The Lawrence Journal of the 24th says: The Commissioners of Lawrence county want to borrow money for the purpose of compromising and redeeming rail road bonds still in the hands of persons willing to take less than the face of them. The law of May 7, 1864, and the supplement of February 6, 1866, authorizes the Commissioners to borrow money for that purpose, for which they issue bonds free from taxation, bearing interest payable semi annually. It is a safe investment and just as good as government bonds.

Elder O. A. Burgess is holding a series of meetings at White Hall, in New Castle. At the close of the discourse on Wednesday evening, a Miss M'Cune, of Enon Valley, presented herself as a candidate for baptism, and desired to be baptised the same hour of the night, when the congregation proceeded to the Neshannock, in the rear of the residenbe of Mr. C. M. Phillips, when she was immersed by Elder Higgins. It was a solemn occasion.

☞ Stiles & Shallenberger, of Bridgewater, call the attention of the public to their fine stock of Goods, to which a large addition has recently been made, consisting in part of a full assortment of Choice Groceries, Queensware, first quality, by the piece or in complete sets, plain and figured, embracing Oyster Tureens, Egg Cups, &c. Also, Glassware, Willow and Split Baskets, Wooden Ware, Table Cutlery, and a variety of house furnishing goods, all of which have been carefully purchased in the East, and will be sold at small profits.

Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers his Farm, consisting of 250 ACRES OF LAND, for sale.—About eighty acres of said farm is in Pulaski Township, and the balance in New Sewickly Township. The whole farm is under fence, and about one half of it cleared. There is a good frame house and also a good frame barn on the property, together with all other necessary out-buildings. The land is well watered, has two good orchards upon it, is convenient to schools and churches, and is only about five miles from Beaver, the county seat. The farm can be conveniently divided into smaller tracts to suit purchasers.

Great Distribution

Union Jewelry Association

Depots: 33 & 39 Nassau, 54 & 56 Liberty St.,

NEW YORK CITY.

Of Rosewood Pianos and Melodeons, Fine Oil Paintings, Engravings, Silver Ware, Gold and Silver Watches, and Sheldon Lever, consisting of Diamond Pins, Diamond Rings, Gold Bracelets, Gold Necklaces, Medals, Jet Lava and Chrome Ladies' Self Gold Pens, with Gold and Silver Extension Holders, Sleeve Buttons, Sets of Studs, Vest and Neck Chains, Plain and Chased Gold Chains, Lockets, &c., valued at which they need not pay until it is known what it draws and its value.

THE AMERICAN JEWELERS ASSOCIATION calls your attention to the fact of its being the largest and most popular Jewelry Association in the United States. The business is and always has been conducted in the most candid and honorable manner. Our rapidly increasing trade is a sure guarantee of the appreciation of our patrons for the course of obtaining rich, elegant and costly goods. The sudden stagnation of trade in Europe, owing to the late German War and recent disastrous financial crisis in England, has caused the failure of a large number of Jewelry Houses in London and Paris, enabling them to sell their goods at a great sacrifice, in some instances less than one-third the cost of manufacturing. We have lately purchased very largely of these Bankrupt Goods, at such extremely low prices, that we can afford to distribute away Finer Goods, and give better chances to draw the most valuable prizes than any other establishment doing a similar business. OUR AIM IS TO PLEASE, and we respectfully solicit your patronage, as we are confident of giving the utmost satisfaction. During the past year we have forwarded a number of the most valuable prizes to all parts of the country. Those who patronize us will receive the full value of their money, as no article on our list is worth less than One Dollar, retail, and there are no Blanks. Parties dealing with us may depend on having prompt returns, and the article drawn will be immediately sent to any address by return mail or express.

The following parties have recently drawn valuable prizes from the American Jewelers' Association, and have kindly allowed the use of their names:

Charles J. Hunter, Esq., Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., Piano, value $300; Miss Anna G. Lacey, of St. Mark's Place, a Sewing Machine, value $75; Brig. Gen. L. L. Hanson, U. S. Vols., Nashville, Tenn., Silver Tea Set, value $100; Miss Emma Hunter, 68 Front st., Harrisburg, Pa., Sewing Machine, value $60; Lieut Col. Walter Chittenden, Quartermaster, Louisville, Ky., Gold Watch, value 150; Wm. S. Haines, 247 King St., Charleston, S. C., Silver Watch, value $50; Alexander Johnson, Late Editor Mackaronic Courier, Mobile, Ala., Gentlemen's Enameled Watch, value $150; Samuel Lee, Esq., President Colorado and Red Bank Mining Company, San Francisco, Cal., Melodeon, value $200; Aaron S. Loop, Esq., Principal Elkhart Collegiate Institute, Elkhart, Ind., $ 145 Diamond Pin, value $200; R. M. Hoffstetter, Montgomery, Ala., Music Box, value $75; Rev. Isaac Van Duzer, Albany, N. Y., Gold Lined Dining Set, value $300; Miss Clara Lucquer, Dayton, Ohio, Pianoforte, value $400, and Diamond Pin, value $175.

Many names could be placed on the List, but we publish no names without permission. Our patrons are desired to send United States currency when it is convenient.

PARTIAL LIST OF ARTICLES

AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE.

Unequalled inducements offered to Ladies and Gents who will act as such. Our descriptive circulars will be sent on application.

Distributions are made in the following manner:—Certificates naming each article and its value are placed in sealed envelopes, which are well mixed. One of these envelopes containing the Certificate or Order for some article, will be delivered at our office, or sent by mail to any address, without regard to choice, on receipt of 25 cents.

On receiving the certificate the purchaser will see what article it draws and its value, and can then send One Dollar, and receive the article named, or can choose any other one article on our list of the same value.

Purchasers of our SEALED ENVELOPES may, in this manner, obtain an article worth from one to five hundred dollars.

Long letters are unnecessary. Have it kindness to write plain directions, and in choosing different articles from those drawn mention the style desired.

☞ Orders for SEALED ENVELOPES must in every case be accompanied with the cash, with the name of the person sending, and Town, County and State plainly written.
